President Greg Hipple

I'm going to go out on a limb and say that I think we have turned the corner on our Midwest weather. Planters are wrapping up, hay is being cut, cows and their calves are out on the pasture. What a busy time of year! High school and college graduations are in full swing. Before we know it, the schools will be out for summer vacation. Congratulations are in order to all our graduates and those recipients of the Chatfield Scholarship that are announced in this issue.

Pat and I are currently working out our plans to expose what cows to what bull. As well as, how we are going to accommodate our plan as we watch the results of the pairings we made last year. This part of raising cattle is perhaps one of the most exciting, yet to me, one of the most agonizing aspects. I'll admit, I'm not a big fan of the "unknown." I like being comfortable, and I like knowing the plan, or at least what the plan will be. Each breeding season we like to try something new, but again; it is unknown territory. This is one reason we enjoy and look forward every year to attending a few Belted Galloway events. I always learn something, and I meet new people that take away some of the "unknown" for me.

The survey is soon to be concluded. If you haven't done so, please respond right away, to make sure your opinion is included. I know the Council is looking forward to the results, so please respond with your opinion.

Summertime is almost upon us. Events revolving around agriculture, cattle, and youth will be in abundance. We plan on attending as many events as we can, starting with the GLBGA Field Days the weekend of June 25 -26, and the Midwest Classic on July 2. Many county fairs, farm shows and other regional events will get going in June as well. We always enjoy attending these events, and I hope you will consider attending some of them too.

A.H. Chatfield Jr. Scholarship

Kris von Dohrmann, Chatfield Scholarship Chair

It is my pleasure to announce the following individuals who were each awarded the prestigious 2016 A.H. Chatfield Jr. Memorial Scholarship to further their education: Autumn Clair (ME), Frances Pendleton (ME), and Lauren Guptill (ME).

We wish them well in their education and commend them with their involvement and dedication to the Belted Galloway breed.

26th National Belted Galloway Sale

Scot & Chris Adams, NEGG National Sale

The 26th Annual National Belted Galloway Sale what a great way to welcome the spring of 2016. Once again, this time of year brings together our seasoned breeders and new breed enthusiasts for a time of networking and great conversations. Along with the Fryeburg Youth show and the 2nd Northeast Junior National, it was a fun-filled four days. I believe this event is one of the best events in New England! Here are the sale results:

7	Lots of Semen	$50/straw average
10	Embryos	$104 average
13	Open Heifers	$2,338 average
5	Bred Heifers	$3,460 average
2	Bulls	$3,500 average

The Tyler Cup Award Winner for Highest Selling Open Heifer went to Magnolia Trace Cece consigned by Magnolia Trace Farm (MS) and purchased by Dawson Masters, Double M Farm (TX).

The Highest Selling Bred Heifer was Aldermere Beatrice consigned by Aldermere Farm (ME) and purchased by Matt & Jill Messmer, Messmer-Izing Farms (WI).

The Highest Selling Bull was Holbrook Hill Brutus Maximus consigned by Holbrook Hill Farm (NH) and purchased by Samantha Grant, Findview Farm (ME).

Special thanks to all the consignors who faithfully consign to the sale each year. You have helped make the National Sale successful for 26 years. And to our bidders and buyers, you have our gratitude because without each and everyone one of you, this sale could not be possible. Thanks to Cassie from DVAuctions, Tom Carper our experienced auctioneer, and all the NEGG members. Many hours of volunteerism make this event a reality. Thanks to the Belted Galloway Society Inc. for their financial support of the sale throughout the years, enabling us to do the advertising for the event. Thanks to Diane Gushee for organizing the youth shows--your efforts year after year have continued to grow the youth involvement. Here's to seeing you again next spring at the 27th Annual National Belted Galloway Sale!

Chad Ray, Louisburg, North Carolina Travels to Fryeburg, Maine

Chad Ray of Louisburg, North Carolina traveled to Fryeburg, Maine in April to attend the National Sale. Chad wrote this message in his blog so that his 4-H club named Dirt Club (many who are BGJA members) could read about his first experience in New England. We would like to thank Chad for sharing his story with us!

We have been on one of the greatest weekend trips of our life. We visited Fryeburg, Maine that was hosting the 2016 National Belted Galloway Sale and New England Belted Galloway Regional Junior National. We have made many friends through cattle in the Northeast, but we have not visited any of them. We owed it to them to go and we owed to ourselves to take a trip together. We RARELY ever get a trip to ourselves. Just being with Jodi was amazing but it was being in those surroundings together that made it the absolute best. The only thing I knew about Maine was they had great lobster, and during the Civil War the rebels hated tangling with them Mainers. They were tough! Of course our New England friends we have made talk funny, but other than their accent, they are just like us. We had seen them in other towns and cities, but never at their home. We have been looking forward to this trip for a long time.

Our flight left from RDU Thursday at 5:50 am. I didn't know planes left that early! We were touching down in Maine around 10 am. From the plane, the coastline of Portland, Maine makes you want to live there, plus I couldn't believe the trees didn't have leaves yet. There were multiple lighthouses, beaches, and many beautiful homes and buildings we could see coming down. After getting our bags we got our rental car. The fellow was kind of a big guy like me and he asked me if I was going to get some lobster. I answered by saying as much as possible! His suggestion was a lobster roll which I thought was Sushi. Turns out—its lobster meat stuffed in a hot dog bun. I was all over looking for that! As we drove towards Fryeburg we went through several small towns including Standish, Maine. We gawked at the many beautiful farms and farmhouses with huge hay barns and dairy barns that were attached to massive farmhouses. Or, as our Maine friends say, BAUGHWNS! The New England and Shaker architecture that I have admired all my life was everywhere around me. It had already been a great trip. We actually crossed over into New Hampshire often, and we were greeted with a big sign that said LIVE FREE OR DIE. I quickly noticed they did not have seat belt or helmet laws. To me, it was kind of like live free and die, but I admire their independence. Way off in the distance, the White Mountains of New Hampshire were still covered in snow. Unlike my home state of North Carolina, the trees were so thin at the top, it really looked like the Rockies to me. We checked into a lovely inn with great people. I felt like I was living on an episode of the Bob Newhart show.

At the Fryeburg Fairgrounds we met our friends. We also met a family who keeps up with us on Facebook and reads our 4-H Dirt Journal each week. I couldn't believe it when they told us that! Jesse and his family are some of the kindest people on earth. We hit it off so well over the weekend. We invited their son to come stay with us for a week over the summer and hang out with our 4-H youth his age. We will see how tough this young Mainer is then! We spent the rest of the day relaxing around fellow 4-H families, Belted Gallo-way breeders, and some of the best people I have ever met. I just couldn't get over how genuinely nice everyone was.

On Friday morning, I met one of the most intriguing men I have in a long time. Any man dressed in over-all britches is a good man! Add an old 1970's era ball cap, and you have yourself a person worthy to visit with. This fellow is Mr. Mac and he has been at this event for 26 consecutive years. He has been raising cattle all his life. Those are his behind us in the picture. Mr. Mac is 80 years old and he still halter breaks his own heifers. Not sure if you can see the white sign in the back ground but it reads, "I started with nothing and I still have most of it left." He reminded me so much of my grandfather and Mr. Mac brought back all the memories I have of my hero as an 11-year-old boy. We sat in the barn and just talked for hours. That time was good for my soul. Mr. Mac made the comment that in his opinion, judges these days are picking the best fitters and not looking for the best cattle. In big time cattle shows, a person "fits" a cow by grooming, clipping, and even gluing and painting their hair. Junior shows don't allow gluing and painting, but I understood what he meant. This man still raised cattle that work—how they milk, how they wean, and how they feed.

We met Mr. Mac's lovely wife who told us she doesn't mess with the cows much. She just mainly looks after Mr. Mac. They went on a blind date over 60 years ago and they are still married today. We talked about a lot more than cattle in the time we spent together.

We also watched others we knew; like a saint of a man named CJ. We watched how he groomed his cattle and clipped their hair. It was more like watching an artist who paints than a cow barber. That night we sat with Mr. Mac and our other friends at a big youth dinner. Over 450 people were in attendance. Maine food is just as good as ours! Oddly enough, they love strawberries up there and their plants aren't even out of the ground yet. It's funny though—they use biscuits in their strawberry shortcake. I asked Mr. Mac about that at supper and he wanted my opinion. I pondered his question—does the biscuit make a better cake? Without hesitation I answered, "Yes sir."

On Saturday morning, I had a lobster omelet for breakfast. My wife, Jodi, thought I was nuts but it was awesome! The diner was full of such happy people. The servers, guests, and even the guy washing the dishes, had a smile on his face. I asked Jodi what her thoughts were about why these folks are all so happy. We both thought a minute. She said, "Maybe because it was sunny and 65 degrees in Maine!" I'm not sure, but Mainers are some of the nicest people I have ever been around.

When we arrived at the sale barn the energy was high. I love an auction as much as anyone. We spent the next few hours watching the sale. I won't tell you if we bought anything because the 4-H kids have no business knowing if we did or not! But we had a great time! We hauled it to the airport to catch our flight and maybe have time to grab something to eat. As you can tell when I travel I like to eat.

I got lobster again!! I saw a gentleman walk off with a box and I asked our server if that man was getting on a plane with lobster. She said, "Yes, folks take them home all the time." I looked at Jodi and she was shaking her head no. "We'll take one!" I said. We named our lobster Scot, in honor of our friend Scot Adams. Scot traveled all the way home with us and is now sitting in my refrigerator. We will miss Scott after tomorrow night.

Even though we were two hours delayed due to mechanical issues at New-ark, it was just fine, we were together. When the plane took off, it flew right over the statue of Liberty and New York City. Jodi had the window seat and I had a great view. It made me happy that she got to see the skyline for the first time. Life is so much better when it's filled with happy people, people you love, and places you enjoy.!

About Classifieds

- ◆ When interested parties are looking for Belted Galloway females the Society offices refer them to the beltie.org classifieds only!
- ◆ Your classified's required contact information — name, farm, location, phone and email. All classified ads are automatically placed on beltie.org with a two-month limit on classified insertions. Photos are $10 placed on beltie.org only.
- ◆ Email ads to executivedirector@beltie.org or by fax (608) 527-4811 or phone (608) 220-1091. We encourage members to submit ads the last two weeks of the month.
- ◆ About bulls ... Before advertising a young male be sure he is well conformed, tracks properly, has good legs and feet, and exhibits good weight gains. We should have data available on his birth weight, 205-day weaning weight, and yearling weight. If he's reached breeding age (around 18 months), it's definitely a plus to have his semen checked for quantity and motility, and uniform scrotal development (two normal sized testicles). Any data available should appear in your advertisement along with his birth date and the names of his sire and dam. It is required that registration numbers be included on bulls advertised for sale in the classifieds.
